

Student Demographics (EDI Focus) 2025

Percentage of New Student by Gender (2025)

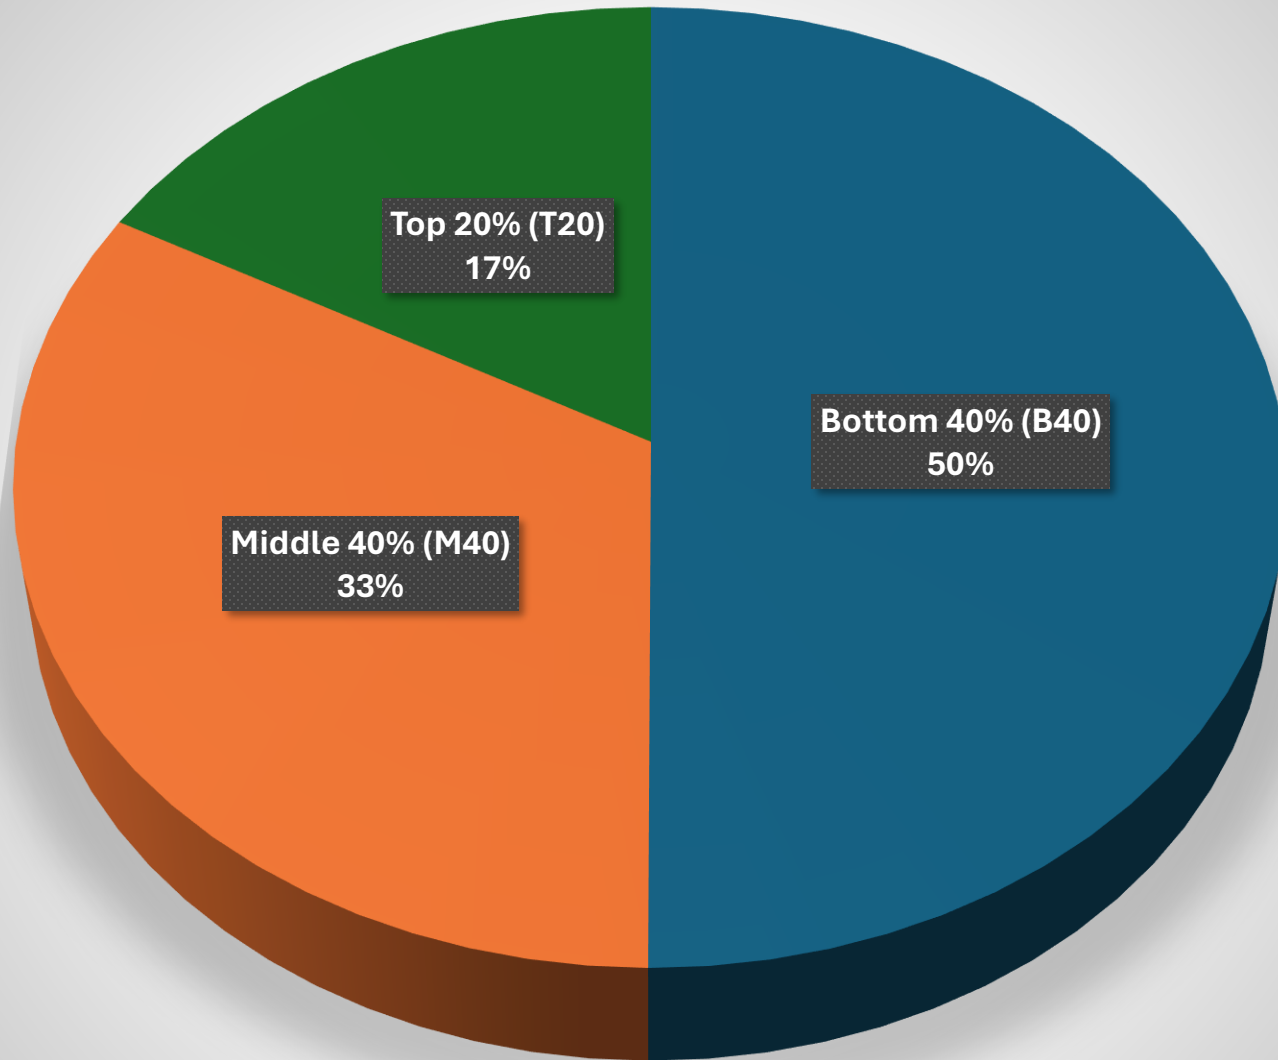

In 2025, male students accounted for 55% of MMU's new student intake, while female students accounted for the remaining 45%. Compared with the overall student population ratio of 56% male and 44% female, the gender distribution among new students was relatively balanced, with the proportion of male students being 1 percentage point lower and female students being 1 percentage point higher. This indicates that the gender composition of the 2025 new student intake was broadly consistent with the overall student population.

Local Minority Ethnic groups include Non-Malay Bumiputera communities from Sabah, Sarawak, and Peninsular Malaysia, as well as Orang Asli, Sikhs, and other minority communities such as the Siamese.

In 2025, students from Local Minority Ethnic groups accounted for 2.99% of newly enrolled students, a decrease from 3.43% in 2024. Despite the decline in new enrolments, Local Minority Ethnic students represented 4.04% of the overall student population in 2025.
